GOLD MEN'S RALLY

Great Gathering at Madison Square Garden Last Night.

HON. BOURKE COCKRAN THE ORATOR

He Replies at Length to Bryan's Speech, Arraigning Portions of the Chicago Platform, the Nominee and the Populists.

New York, Aug. 18.—Madison Square arden was densely crowded last night long before the Democratic Sound Money league meeting was called to order. The crowd was almost if not fully as large as was present last Wednesday night when Wm. J. Bryan was formally notified of his nomination by the Chicago convention. The principal attraction of the evening was the speech of W. Bourke Cockran, as it was understood his remarks were to be a direct reply to the speech of Mr. Bryan. The arrangements for the meeting were on a most elaborate and almost perfect scale and the trouble and tumult outside the garden which marked the demonstration last week were entirely lacking. The sixty-ninth regiment band rendered a series of national airs while the audience filed in. Every man, woman and child who entered was given a small American flag and a leaflet containing the words of the "Star Spangled Banner" and "America." These songs were rendered by a double quartette in which the vast assemblage assisted. The small American flags played a prominent part later in the evening, when they were waved vigorously by the vast audience when it gave vent to its enthusiasm at some of the points made by Mr. Cockran in the course of his speech. The decorations in the great hall were very profuse. Flags, shields and streamers were hung in every available place and the garden presented a most beautiful picture.

Forty States Represented.

On the platform besides Maj. John Byrne, president of the democratic honest money league, who called the meeting to order, Hon. Perry Belmont, the permanent chairman of the meeting, and the Hon. Bourke Cockran, the speaker of the evening, were a host of democrats of national and local renown, and a large number of vice-presidents of the meeting, including democrats from forty different states. Eighty-three hundred chairs had been placed in the arena in the great auditorium. This arrangement swelled the seating capacity of the building to about 18,000.

Perry Belmont Presided.

At 8:25, when Mr. Cockran came in, every seat was occupied. Mr. Cockran was received with cheers. Major Byrne immediately advanced to the front of the platform and when, at 8:30, order was restored, he called the meeting to order in a brief speech, and named Perry Belmont as chairman. When the applause which greeted Mr. Belmont ceased he began his speech. He was in good voice and his every word was audible in all parts of the house. At one point in his speech, where he was particularly severe on populists and populism, in which category he included Mr. Bryan, a number of hisses were heard, but these were quickly drowned out by the counter cheers. Mr. Cockran was then introduced amid cheering. He spoke in part as follows:

Mr. Cockran's Speech.

Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, fellow democrats all. With the inspiring strains of the national air still ringing in our ears, who can doubt the issue of this campaign. Stripped of all verbal disguise it is an issue of common honesty, an issue between the honest discharge and the dishonest repudiation of public and private obligations. It is a question as to whether the powers of this government shall be used to protect honest industry or tempt the citizen to dishonesty. On this question honest men cannot differ. It is one of morals and of justice. It involves the existence of social order. It is the contest for civilization itself. A democratic convention may renounce the democratic faith, but the democracy remains faithful to democratic principles. Democratic leaders may betray a convention to the populists, but they cannot seduce the footsteps of democratic voters from the pathway of honor and of justice. A candidate bearing the mandate of a democratic convention may in this hall open a canvass levelled against the foundations of social order and he beholds the democratic masses confronting him organized for defense. Fellow democrats, let us not disguise from ourselves the fact that we bear in this contest a serious and grave and solemn burden of duty. We must raise our hands against the nominee of our party, and we must do it to preserve the future of that party itself. We must oppose the nominee of the Chicago convention, and we know full well that the success of our opposition will mean our own exclusion from public life, but we will be consoled and gratified by the reflection that it will prove that the American people cannot be divided into parties on a question of simple morals or of common honesty. We look in vain through the speech delivered here one week ago to find a true statement of the issue involved in this canvass. Indeed, I believe it is doubtful if the candidate himself quite understands the nature of the faith which he professes. I say this, not in criticism of his ability, but in justice to his morality. I believe that if he himself understood the inevitable consequences of the doctrines which he preaches that his own hands would be the very first to tear down the platform on which he stands. The people of this country will not change the institutions which have stood the tests and experiences of a century, for institutions based upon the fantastic dreams of populist agitators—that the American nation will never consent to substitute for the republic of Washington, of Jefferson and of Jackson the republic of an Angeldt, a Tillman or a Bryan." Mr Cockran's speech was quite lengthy and throughout it was a severe arraignment of portions of the Chicago platform and the nominee who stands upon it. The speaker made free use of the words populist, socialist and revolution, and he was continually applauded, although an occasional expression of disapproval was heard.

TRAGEDY FEARED.

The Letter Written by Mrs. Johnston Creating a Sensation in Kentucky.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 19.—The famous letter purporting to have been written by Mrs. J. Fletcher Johnston of this city to Gov. Bradley regarding the appointment of Mrs. Judge Cantrill and Mrs. S. A. Charles as delegates to the Tennessee centennial is developing one of the biggest sensations ever known in Kentucky. S. A. Charles, husband of the lady who was referred to in the letter to Gov. Bradley as of being of no more culture than a chambermaid, is pushing the matter to a crisis. He took a photographic copy of the letter to Gov. Bradley and a letter written by Mrs. Eugenie Dunlap Potts to a newspaper office in this city and showed them to the managing editor. Mrs. Potts is the society editor of this paper and Mr. Charles expressed surprise to the editor that he should employ Mrs. Potts after the editor had said that the handwriting of the Bradley letter and of the one known have to have been written by Mrs. Potts was the same. Judge George Denny, the recent republican nominee for congress, who is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Potts, says he will not allow Mr. Charles, or any other man, to traduce any member of his family, that there is not a drop of cowardly blood in the Denny and Dunlap veins and tha the proposes to defend the honor of his sister-in-law. Both men are recognized as possessing the most daring courage, and the friends of both apprehend a tragedy.

CONDITION OF CROPS.

New Jersey—Early buckwheat heads not well filled; late crop very promising; temperature, sunshine and rainfall above weekly average. Maryland—Early corn crop assured; wheat, rye and oats being thrashed, tobacco crop short in places.

ADAMS EXPRESS STRIKE.

Managers of the Company Say That the Trouble Is Over.

New York, Aug 19.—The freight of the Adams Express company, it is claimed by the officers of the company, is being moved to day with little delay, only that caused by the fact that the new men employed in the places of the strikers are not wholly familiar with their work. Every wagon is manned, it is asserted, and at the Canal street and Forty-ninth street stations there were more wagons and drivers awaiting orders than could be used. The managers at the different offices said this morning that there was no delay worth mentioning.

New Five-Dollar Bill.

New York, Aug. 19.—The first lot of the new $5 silver certificates is out. The face of the note is black and white; on the back green. The face shows an allegorical figure of Liberty holding an electric lamp over her head, illuminating an eagle and a picture of Fame. In the background is a picture of the capitol at Washington. Pictures of Grant and Sheridan with a shield between them are on the reverse side of the bill. The numerals in the corners of the bill are cramped in form and the denomination is not apparent at the first glance. The bill is not popular with bankers.

Fight with Indians.

Tucson, Ariz., Aug. 19.—Three Indians were killed, thirty captured and three soldiers mortally wounded in a fight yesterday between Troop E of the Seventh cavalry and Yaqui Indians, twenty miles south of here.

TEN SAILORS LOST

Result of the Burning of the Bark Stafford.

HAD TAKEN TO THE SMALL BOAT

The Captain and Ten of the Crew in Another Small Boat Reach Shore Safely Although the Sea at the Time of the Disaster Was Rough.

Philadelphia, Aug. 19.—According to private advices received in this city today, ten of the crew of twenty-one men of the British bark Flora P. Stafford, which was burned at sea several weeks ago, perished. The ill-fated vessel, although sailing under the English flag, was owned principally in this city. She sailed from New Castle, N. S. W., April 22, for Manila, with about 2,000 tons of coal, and on June 8, in latitude 6 north, longitude 13 east, she took fire. The flames soon got control of the ship and the crew was compelled to take to the boats. Capt. Oscar Smith, a brother to Capt. Smith of this city, took to one boat with ten men and the mate with nine other men got in the second boat. Capt. Smith and his ten men succeeded in saving themselves, but nothing has ever been heard from the chief mate and his crew. The sea at the time was rough and the probabilities are that the boat was capsized and all were lost. There are hopes, however, that the sailors may have been picked up by some passing vessel and will yet be heard from.

SPANIARDS TRICKED.

All Their Efforts Fail To Prevent Landing of Filibusters.

Havana, Aug. 19.—Notwithstanding the activity of the warships engaged in patrolling the coast of the island, the landing of filibustering expeditions continues, and within the past few months the insurgents have in this way recived much aid from sources outside the island. The latest expedition to safely land was got ashore on the coast of Pinar del Rio, and the members and the supplies they brought with them are now with the rebels. The news of the landing of this expedition reached here late last evening. It is said that the expedition was an important one, though the place from where it sailed is not stated. Basilio Soler, a prisoner of war, was shot this morning in the Cabana fortress for the crime of rebellion. The news received concerning the movements of the Spanish troops in the province of Pinar del Rio is unimportant.

Woodford says the most effective campaign literature the people are getting this year are the speeches which Major McKinley makes to the delegations which come to see him at his home in Canton.

DENIAL BY BRYAN

Says He Was Never in the Employ of Silver Mine Owners.

REPLIES TO SENATOR THURSTON

His Income Not Large and Derived from His Editorial Work and Lectures. Was Always an Advocate of Free Silver.

Upper Red Hook, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Up to the time of his departure on his fishing trip yesterday Mr. Bryan received a number of callers. Most of them came by train to Tarrytown and drove six miles to Upper Red Hook. One of them was D. C. Heterer of Pine Plains, who wanted the nominee to make a speech there. He said Pine Plains was the usual place for holding big political demonstrations in Dutchess county and pointed out the advantages afforded for meeting purposes by a large pasture in the town. An invitation also came from Tivoli, Dutchess county, and this may be accepted. Despite his suburban isolation, Mr. Bryan is getting his mail regularly and his private secretary, J. W. Cutwright, has his hands full attempting to sort and answer the three hundred letters so far received.

Mr. Bryan's Statement.

On his return from the fishing trip last night Mr. Bryan gave out a prepared answer to the allegations made by Senator Thurston that Mr. Bryan was in the pay of the mine owners. "I have already denied this charge on several occasions, but the reiteration of it by Senator Thurston, a distinguished resident of my own state, justifies me in answering it again. I have never at any time or under any circumstances been in the employ of any mine owners, individually or collectively, directly or indirectly, nor have I ever been in the employ of or been paid by any bimetallic organization. Aside from my editorial salary of about $150 per month paid by the Omaha World Herald and a small amount derived from the legal profession, my income since my retirement from congress has been derived from lectures before lyceums and lecture bureaus which have usually paid me a fixed sum from contributions made by the people of the localities where I have spoken. In some instances I have received nothing at all. In most places I have received more than enough to cover traveling expenses. In only two instances, I think, has my compensation exceeded $100, and these instances it was about $200 at one place and about $400 at the other. The first platform upon which I ran for congress in 1890, before I was known politically outside of my state, contained a free coinage plank, and my republican opponent that year was an advocate of free coinage. In the campaign of 1892 I again ran upon a free coinage platform, and my opponent for the senate, Mr. Thurston, while opposing unlimited coinage at 16 to 1, insisted that he favored bimetallism. I wrote the free coinage plank upon which I ran in 1890, and the free coinage planks in the Nebraska state platform in 1891, 1894, 1895 and 1896, and tried to secure the adoption of free coinage planks in the state platforms of 1892 and 1893. I only mention this to show that my advocacy of free silver is not of a recent date. Having made this answer to Mr. Thurston's letter I shall hereafter take no notice of individual or newspaper comments upon this subject. If the republican national committee will say officially that it believes I have ever been employed to deliver speeches by any mine owner or group of mine owners, or by any association supported by mine owners, I am ready to make a statement showing in detail all money received by me for speech making."

ALIMONY FOR MRS. ABBEY.

Awarded $3,300 a Year and $350 Attorney's Fee by the Court.

New York, Aug. 19.—Lawyer Brooke, before Justice Smyth of the supreme court, moved for an allowance of $100 a week alimony and $500 counsel fee for Mrs. Florence Gerard Abbey, pending the trial for an action for separation which she has brought against Henry E. Abbey, the theatrical manager. Mr. Brooke said: "Mrs. Abbey is utterly without means for her support or to prosecute the case, while Mr. Abbey, you know, is in receipt of at least $10,000 a year as one of the managers of the Metropolitan Grand Opera house. We believe Mr. Abbey has other means or that he will shortly receive other sums of money, but we are unable to state just how much. During the past year," said Mr. Brooke, continuing to read from the complaint, "the defendant has been in almost a continual state of intoxication, and he has abused Mrs. Abbey until she was in fear of her life." Mr. Abbey's attorney set up a general denial of the charges. Justice Smyth finally fixed the alimony at $3,300 a year and gave Mr. Brooke $350 counsel fee.

Any individual aiding our cruisers to capture a steamer bearing a filibustering expedition will be rewarded by the treasury of this island with the amount of $24,000 the moment the capture is effected, and with the sum of $9,000 for each sailing vessel of more than 205 tons captured under similar circumstances. Article 2. The captain of the vessel captured will be exempt from all responsibility. Note. A subsequent decree also exempts the crew of the captured vessel from all responsibility. Valeriano Weyler."

VICTORY FOR TEBEAU.

Decision of the Court Against the National League Collecting a Fine.

Cleveland, Aug. 19.—Oliver Tebeau, captain of the local baseball team, is successful in his fight against the National league, Judge Noble having rendered his decision in the injunction to prevent the league from either interfering with the Cleveland team or its captain. He would have mad the injunction permanent but for the fact that the same objects were assured by continuing the original restraining order in force. The object of the injunction prayed for in the petition was to prevent the National league from collecting an alleged wrongful $200 fine assessed against a local captain or barring the team or player from participating in championship games.

The statistics for the quarter are: Gross earnings $2,321,813; operating expenses, $1,385,914; other income, $42,500; fixed charges, $616,709, net income, $361,599.

Is the Fuller a Filibuster?

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 19.—Wild rumors are in circulation here as to the nature of the cargo carried by the barkentine Herbert Fuller, which sailed hence yesterday, ostensibly for Rosario. The same stories were afloat shortly after the Fuller arrived here with the three murdered victims on board. This is to the effect that the vessel is only partly loaded with lumber, of which there is no more than enough to conceal a cargo of provisions and war supplies intended for Cuban rebels and that she is bound for the Cuban coast.

Among the prominent legal men present are Lord Russell, chief justice of England, and several prominent councilors of England who accompanied him to America. Lord Russell and party reached here at 8:35 o'clock last night in the private car "Marquita" of the Wagner Car company. He was met at the depot by a delegation from the bar association, including President Story, Secretary Hinkley and judge George S. Batcheller. The party went at once to the United States hotel, near the depot, where Lord Russell has secured cottages. This evening Judge Batcheller will tender a reception to Lord Russell and party to meet the members of the American Bar association and other legal gentlemen in attendance, at his handsome Circular street residence. The reception will be practically a judicial affair and will be held at 9:30 o'clock. A large number of invitations have been issued and it promises to be the event of the week. Last evening the committee on international law and the members of the general council held meetings in Grand Union hotel and perfected their reports. The report of the former committee will be submitted to-morrow, and of the latter, to-day.

Dr. Anderson is accused of performing the operation and Miss Schrecongost and Boardhead are held as being accessories before and after the fact. The case has many features of more than passing interest and may result in exposures of far reaching character. The prominence of all parties to the crime also lends interest to the case. Miss Shrecongost was admitted to bail in $1,000 yesterday. Her accused associates were denied bail.

Death Sentence Commuted.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The president has commuted to imprisonment for life the sentence of Thornton Alexander, convicted here of murder and sentenced to be hanged on November 27. The convict is 19 years of age.

HOW SHE FOOLED HIM

BY HELEN GRAVES.

The momentous interview between Mrs. Jefferson Wayland and Mr. Hopkins was over at last—and the lady was heartily glad that it was so. All her smiles and suavity were needed—all her slender stock of patience was exhausted.

"Of all intolerable creatures, I do think an old bachelor is the most intolerable," thought Mrs. Wayland to herself, looking at Mr. Hopkins with the sweetest and most interested of expression. "I wonder if he really means to stay here all day—and I have an engagement at two!"

But Mr. Hopkins had risen to his feet at last, with an "ahem," and a manifest intention of going, and Mrs. Wayland rose, too, with a soft rustle of silken robes and expensive laces.

"Then you think, madam, that circumstances are tolerably auspicious as regards the consummation of my matrimonial happiness within a very brief period of time?" was Mr. Hopkins' final query.

"My dear sir, I am quite sure of it," answered Mrs. Wayland, emphatically, as she followed Noah Hopkins, Esquire, to her front door.

Noah was a tall, portly gentleman, something on the shady side of 50, with massive gold eye-glasses, and scanty hair, brushed carefully to hide the bald spot on the crown of his respectable head—a gentleman who pronounced his words slowly and sententiously and somehow seemed to carry in his very presence the auriferous idea of bank stock, railroad bonds and productive coupons!

"Yes, but, madam, Miss Wayland is so very—ahem!—so remarkably undemonstrative—I might even say so decidedly cold in her manner—"

"Oh, my dear sir," smoothly interrupted Mrs. Wayland, "that is the way with all girls at this interesting period of their lives. Nothing on earth but maidenly shyness—natural girlish timidity, I assure you!"

Mr. Hopkins looked gratified, but still doubtful.

"You are quite certain, then, that she really loves me?"

"There cannot possibly be a doubt of it, Mr. Hopkins!"

And Noah Hopkins departed, treading gleefully over the ringing pavements as his thoughts reverted ever and anon to the pretty 18-year-old damsel who was, cupid willing, so soon to become Mrs. Hopkins.

But what did Bessy Wayland herself think of it? And how did she contemplate the near approach of orange blossoms and wedding ring?

She sat there by the window, as her mother returned from bidding a ceremonious adieu to Mr. Hopkins, a modern edition of Niobe, "all in tears."

She was small and fragile, with shady blue eyes, rather large and languishing; light brown hair that had an irresistible inclination to curl all over her head in tiny gold-burnished rings, and cheeks where changing dimples hid away among the loveliest roses.

"Crying again, my dear?" said Mrs. Wayland, in accents of mild reproach. "Really, Bessie, your conduct is most inscrutable."

"Mamma!" sobbed Bessie, flashing rebellion from the brimming blue orbs. "I hate Mr. Hopkins!"

"My dearest child!" exclaimed the horrified mother, "don't let me ever hear you say such a shockingly unladylike thing again! When he is so condescending as to notice a child like you!"

"Yes, but, mamma—"

"I quite understand the meaning of this new freak of obstinacy," went on Mrs. Wayland, sternly. "You have seen Charley Evans again."

"I couldn't help it, mamma," faltered Bessie; "he was at the door just as I came out of church last night, and when I—"

"The idea!" ejaculated Mrs. Wayland, holding up both her hands and looking appealingly at the ceiling, as if for inspiration. "And you can actually stoop to fancy a clerk in Mr. Hopkins' banking establishment!"

"But I don't 'fancy' him, mamma," returned Bessie, stoutly; "I love him with my whole heart."

"Hush—sh—h!" exclaimed Mrs. Wayland, authoritatively. "You will be married a month from to-morrow to Mr. Hopkins, Charley Evans to the contrary notwithstanding. And now let us sit down and make out a complete list of the dresses and things you will want."

"I don't care for dresses," pouted Bessie; but Mrs. Wayland paid no attention whatever to her remonstrance and moved her tablets, putting the pencil thoughtfully to her lips.

"You see we must be very careful at first, for Mr. Hopkins is so exceedingly economical—it won't do to shock his ideas of what is proper and fitting."

Bessie winked away the tears and listened—may, she almost smiled as her mother wrote down item after item. Mrs. Wayland could have hugged herself for her diplomacy.

"The girl never yet lived who could resist the attraction of new clothes and an outfit of dresses," she thought. "I knew how to bring the willful little minx to reason!"

"Bessie," she said, as she finally closed the little set of tablets and restored the pencil to its place within them, "Mr. Hopkins is coming to take you out walking to-morrow."

"Very well, mamma."

"And I think you had better wear your blue silk with the double satin folds. Never mind about putting on your new earrings and pin. Mr. Hopkins has some rather peculiar ideas, and might consider them a little extravagant for people in our circumstances."

"Yes, mamma," said Bessie, as docile as a four-year-old child.

She was all ready, looking exceedingly lovely in the blue silk dress, when Mr. Noah Hopkins called for her, according to the programme, next morning.

"What a lucky fellow I am," thought Noah, exultantly, as he drew the little gloved hand within his arm, with a sensation of proprietorship very agreeable to experience.

"Do stop a minute, Mr. Hopkins," said Bessie, as they reached the glittering splendors of a jeweler's window. "I just want to look at those pretty things! Aren't those rubies perfectly splendid. You're going to buy me a set of emeralds and diamonds, aren't you, when we are married? And a real Geneva watch with a bouquet of brilliants on the case? And a pair of those lovely lizi bracelets? I never had much jewelry, but when I'm married, I mean to buy everything that is pretty. And you'll get me a parure of big white pearls, won't you?"

"I—I'll think of it," stammered Mr. Hopkins, rather taken aback by the extent of his bride-elect's expectations.

"It will be so nice to have a rich husband," went on Bessie, artlessly. "Mamma says you'll let me have a carriage and a pair of darling little cream-colored ponies, that I can drive myself, with silver mounted harness, and—"

"Y-yes, but you don't consider, my dear—horses are shockingly expensive," interrupted Noah, wiping his brow with a huge yellow silk pocket handkerchief.

"What of that? You're rich, aren't you? I shall have a housekeeper, and two maids, and a colored waiter, and white kid gloves—"

"Kid gloves are two dollars a pair, my dear," apologetically put in Mr. Hopkins.

"That's nothing, as long as one has a rich husband! We shall go to Saratoga, or the White mountains, for at least two months every year, of course. I always did sigh for a gay life and plenty of excitement."

"Sixty dollars a week for eight weeks—four hundred and eighty dollars!" mentally computed Noah, with a slight shiver. "I shall come to the poorhouse, as sure as I'm a living sinner!"

"And as many dresses as I want," pursued Bessie, clapping her little hands. "Mrs. Glenn has 32 silks, and I don't know how many of nuns' veiling and taffetas. Oh, Noah, how glad I am that you are rich!"

Noah Hopkins stared confusedly down at the blue eyes that were upturned to his so unconsciously.

"You'll have a billiard table, of course? I dote on billiards—and a yacht, for I'm so fond of the salt air, and sea bathing, and—"

"I'll have a private insane asylum and put myself in it first!" ejaculated Noah, driven to the very borders of distraction. "Miss Wayland, I must have entirely misunderstood your character, from beginning to end!"

"I shouldn't at all wonder if you had," said Bessie, demurely.

"I certainly never for an instant contemplated such frightful extravagance as you seem to coolly take for granted."

"If I marry a rich husband I certainly mean to use his money and enjoy it," said Bessie, defiantly.

"Then, ma'am, allow me to remark that you will not use mine! I—I prefer remaining single!"

"And what's to become of me, with all my wedding clothes ordered?" whimpered Bessie, trying very hard to summon the semblance of mortified tears into her mischievous blue eyes.

"Perhaps you might prefer some younger man?" suggested Noah, with the lively horror of a breach of promise suit rising up before his mind's eye. "I understand that my clerk, Mr. Evans, is—"

Bessie's cheeks glowed like carmine.

"Mr. Evans' situation does not justify him in marrying—he is too poor. I'm afraid you'll have to take me yourself."

Noah involuntarily recoiled from the idea of pony carriages, cream-colored horses and yachts.

"Yes, but—but our head clerkship is vacant, at a salary of $2,000 a year. I did intend it for old Bogsley, but Charley Evans is a very deserving young fellow, and—"

Here Miss Bessie interrupted him by standing on her tiptoe to give him a kiss that almost shook his resolutions of celibacy. But he remembered the colored waiter, with the white kid gloves, and stood firm!

"But what will mamma say?" suddenly questioned Bessie.

"I will make it all right with her, my dear," said Mr. Noah Hopkins, thinking of the gorgeous India shawl full of palm leaves and pagodas, wherewith he would propitiate the impending anger of his mother-in-law that was not to be.

"It'll cost a deuce of a sum," thought Noah, sorrowfully, "but it won't compare with the daily and hourly drain of an extravagant wife. I'm well out of this scrape, shawl or no shawl!"

So our little Bessie went triumphantly home, to work at her wedding garments with renewed zeal, sewing a happy thought in with every stitch, and Charley Evans was that very day agreeably surprised with a $2,000 position, formally presented to him with a little stiff speech by Noah Hopkins, Esq.

"Poor Evans," thought Noah, as Charley left him after a torrent of thanks, "that extravagant little puss will be the ruin of him, before he is a year older; but it's no business of mine."

Nevertheless, Mr. Evans would persist in rushing blindly upon his fate, and married Bessie Wayland on the very day originally set for the consummation of Noah's own nuptials. Mr. Hopkins went to the wedding, and muttered thoughtfully to himself, as the bridal party passed beneath the arched doorway of the church:

"Good Apollo! what an escape I have had!"

But Mr. and Mrs. Evans were quite contented with the existing state of things.—N. Y. Weekly.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS' FLAG.

THE GIFT OF THE DAUGHTERS OF ORANGE PRESENTED TO-DAY.

At the Thirty-first Annual Re-union of the 124th Regiment Association at Highland Falls—The Presentation Speech Made by Mr. Vanamee.

The thirty-first annual re-union of the veterans of the 124th Regiment, N. Y. V., popularly and lovingly known as the "Orange Blossoms," which is being held at Highland Falls, to-day, is an event of unusual interest both to members of the regimental association and the people of the county, because of the presentation of the beautiful silk flag, purchased for the regiment by the Daughters of Orange.

This is the third flag given to the regiment by the Daughters of Orange. The first was presented at Goshen in 1862, before the regiment went to the front. The presentation speech was made by Hon. Charles H. Winfield and the flag was accepted in behalf of the regiment by its gallant commander, Col. Ellis. Two years later, another flag was sent to the regiment in the field, to take the place of the original flag, which had become worn through service and had been torn by many hostile bullets.

The flag presented to-day, is a very beautiful one. It is of silk, surrounded by heavy gold fringe, and on it are embroidered in gold the names of the engagements in which the regiment took part, as follows:

124th Regt., N. Y. Vols.,
Orange Blossoms.
1862–1865
Manassas Gap, Chancellorville, Gettysburg,
Fredericksburg, Beverly Ford, Wapping Heights,
Auburn, Locust Grove,
Kelley's Ford, Mine Run,
Wilderness, Spotsylvania, Chesterfield Bridge,
Po River, Ny River, Tolopotomoy,
Cold Harbor, Strawberry Plains,
Assault of Petersburg, Mine Explosion,
Deep Bottom, Boydton Road, Watkins House,
Siege of Petersburg, Weldon Road, Hatcher's Run,
Second Boydton Road, Sailors' Creek,
Fall of Petersburg, Appomattox.

William Vanamee, Esq., of Newburgh, had been selected to make the presentation speech in behalf of the Daughters of Orange and at the reunion, this afternoon, he was introduced by William H. Rogers, of this city, who acted as treasurer for the committee of ladies, who had charge of the purchase of the flag. In introducing the speaker Mr. Rogers said:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Thirty-four years ago a gallant band, the very flower of Orange county's youthful manhood, sprang to arms in defense of their country in its hour of great distress. They bore with them the stars and stripes, the gift of Orange county's loyal daughters. How well they bore aloft those colors, on many a battlefield, is a leaf from the nation's history, the glory of our country and a source of pride to all her children.

The Daughters of Orange of to-day are no less loyal than were those of 1862. As a token that the memory of deeds of valor is imperishable and ever bright and fragrant, they have once more provided for the survivors of that band of heroes a stand of colors.

I am proud to appear before you to-day in their behalf and to say in their name that it was indeed a labor of love, in which one and all have felt it an honor and a privilege to participate.

They have selected as their spokesman one of our most eloquent and gifted fellow citizens, for the honor of whose citizenship two cities now contend, and as the flag which to-day is to be presented represents every portion of our county, it is most appropriate that their representative speaker should be one who belongs not merely to Newburgh and Middletown, but in the broadest sense, to Orange county.

It, therefore, gives me great pleasure to introduce to you Mr. William Vanamee, who will make the address of presentation.

Mr. Vanamee spoke as follows:

Veterans of the 124th Regiment:

It was just thirty-four years ago, this very month of August, that the Daughters of Orange presented to you a stand of colors, as you set forth to defend, in battle and in blood, the union of these States, imperilled by treason and assailed by arms. It had become apparent then that no light task lay before you and that the contest in which you were to engage was a bitter and terrible one. Upon his memorable visit to England Henry Ward Beecher, after talking for an hour against a howling mob of Southern sympathizers at Manchester, was asked the question, "Why don't you whip the Confederates in sixty days as you said you could?" "Because," replied Beecher, "we found we had Americans to fight, instead of Englishmen." Your earnest and thoughtful commander fully realized the dangers and responsibilities you were assuming, for, when he received and unfurled those colors to the breeze, he declared that if they were not brought back in honor and in triumph it would be because the hands to which they were committed should be cold in death.

Again, just thirty-two years ago, the Daughters of Orange sent to the front another stand of colors whose bullet-pierced and powder-blackened folds attested the splendid courage with which they were borne across the enemy's line on many a hard fought field. They accompanied these new colors with a letter in which they referred to the honorable and glorious record of your regiment and to the military genius and personal valor of its commander. They reminded you of the pledge given by him, which both he and you had so fully, so grandly redeemed.

They had reason, indeed, to believe that their first and patriotic impulse and appropriate action had been remembered by him with gratitude and tenderness, and that it had proved both to him and to you an inspiration and a rallying cry; for, just one month before the immortal Ellis fell upon the glorious field of Gettysburgh, he wrote to that patriot son of Orange, Charles H. Winfield, referring to your battle flag and saying that "the remembrance of its fair donors, the dear Daughters of Orange, is ever before us. The warning of a mighty ten post alone could equal the shouts of the American Guard as they entered the conflict cheering loudly for the 'little girls at home.'" And in the very battle he was then describing he had rallied his men, as they went into action, with the animating cry "let the little girls of old Orange hear a good report of this day's work."

Thus do we see how that battle-scarred flag gathered a special sacredness from its association with those patriotic women whose respect for military ardor and valor was then, as such admiration has been in all ages, the inspiration and the reward of heroes.

But the uppermost sentiment in the heart of every American woman was that her heroes might soon return, bringing back not only honor but peace. It was the peculiarity of the Civil War that the women of our land were called upon to suffer more deeply and more widely than the women of any land in any great war of modern times. For the hosts of battle were drawn from the home and from the fire side. Who can picture, who can even imagine the silent agonies endured by those left behind, as separation was succeeded by fluctuating fears and hopes, by constant thought of danger and distress, by dread foreboding of disaster and death, and alas, worst of all, by crushing certainty, as the eagerly scanned list of the "killed" contained the name of son, brother or husband.

"The maid who binds her warrior's sash,
With smile that well her pain dissembles,
The while beneath her drooping lash
One starry tear-drop hangs and trembles,
Though Heaven alone records the tear,
And fame shall never know her story,
Her heart has shed a drop as dear
As e'er bedewed the field of glory!

The wife who girds her husband's sword,
'Mid Battle's ones who weep or wonder,
And bravely speaks the cheering word,
What though her heart be rent asunder,
Doomed nightly in her dreams to hear
The bolts of death around him rattle,
Hath shed as sacred blood as e'er
Was poured upon the field of battle!

The mother who conceals her grief,
While to her breast her son she presses,
Then breathes a few brave words and brief,
Kissing the patriot brow she blesses,
With no one but her secret God
To know the pain that weighs upon her,
Sheds holy blood as e'er the sod
Received on freedom's field of honor!"

You, veterans, can appreciate the truth of this far more than civilians even, for you know, better than they, what abundant cause for suffering the women of this land had during those grim, ghastly years of the Civil War. And you, too, whose bravery in battle needs no new proof, are the last ones who would allow your beloved land to become again involved in the horrors of war. It is a satisfaction to know that amid all the torrent of cheap Jingoism, war feeling and insensate bluster that has swept over this land since your last reunion you have been the first to deprecate and discourage a resort to arms. You, who know what war means, were the first to deplore a proposition which shocked the moral sentiment of mankind and which ought to have shocked the moral sense of this entire people—a proposition to make deliberate war upon a friendly nation bound to us by every tie of a common origin, a common language, a common literature, a common law and a common religion. And that, too, not for any affront or indignity offered to this nation or any threatened infringement of its rights, but in behalf of a cause, the justice of which is still being investigated, and in behalf of a nation alien in blood, language and civilization; deficient in every attribute of manly, noble or robust character.

It is well that you who, above all men, cannot be suspected of personal fear or cowardice, should exert your great and just influence in teaching your countrymen that a war in this enlightened age of the Christian era is a crime against civilization—a crime for which the God of battles may well humiliate and destroy any nation entering upon it on any slight ground or trivial pretext. Indeed, it is but a moral axiom that it is wicked and abhorrent to the last degree for any Christian nation to voluntarily enter upon war except to repel foreign invasion, to suppress domestic treason or to prevent Christian slaughter.

I say to prevent Christian slaughter, for it must make us pause when we reflect that while officialism and Jingoism have been fuming and strutting, bragging and threatening over a few beggarly feet of territory in half civilized South America, not one official step has been taken, not one popular movement has been inaugurated to stay the wholesale massacre of our Christian brethren in Armenia at the hand of the Moslem and the Turk, though that slaughter is at this very moment being carried on with undiminished horror and atrocity. It never will be accurately known to what extent our threat of war, and the consequent total isolation of England, prevented her from obeying the impulse of her heart, oppressed by the weight of this sickening woe, but well may England's uncrowned laureate exclaim to us:

Bad backs are numerous.

But do they cure?
That's the all-important question.
Claim is one thing—proof is another.
Claim means what the manufacturer says.
Proof means what the people say.
The people say
Doan's Kidney Pills cure Kidney Ills.
Who are the people?
Why Middletown people—What other indorsement is proof?

Mr. Arthur C. Bowers, No. 2 Harding St., says: "Between two and three years ago I took LaGrippe. I had quite a time of it and when able to be up and around I found myself suffering from lumbago. It grew so bad I could not do any work. For ten days or two weeks at a time the pains would be excruciating. I tried most everything to get relief, medicines, plasters and belts, but all to no purpose. At last I went to J. E. Mills' drug store on North street, for a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. I found in them the remedy I was looking for. They did the work thoroughly. I can honestly recommend them."

A WORD ABOUT TEA.

We have just received an invoice of Ceylon Tea, the first genuine Ceylon Tea sold in Middletown. As is well-known, England controls India and the Island of Ceylon. These countries being natural tea producers, England, by her skillful management and modern and improved methods of cultivating and curing, is producing Teas that are as far superior to the China Teas as the English, as a nation, are superior to the Chinese. Although but recently introduced into this country these teas, by their superiority, bid fair, in time, to entirely crowd out the Chinese production. We solicit you to try them.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

The Democratic electors of the State of New York are requested to unite in sending three delegates and three alternates from each Assembly District to a State Convention, to be held at Buffalo, on Wednesday, Sept. 16th, 1896, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates to be voted for at the ensuing general election, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention.

(Signed) J. W. HINKLEY, Chairman.
August 7, 1896.

ASSEMBLY DISTRICT CONVENTION.

The Democratic electors of the Second Assembly District of Orange county are hereby requested to send delegates to a Democratic convention, to be held at the Assembly Rooms, in Middletown, N. Y., on the 5th day of September, 1896, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of selecting three delegates and three alternates to attend the Democratic State Convention, which will be held at Buffalo on Wednesday Sept 16th, 1896.

WM. H. CRANE, Chairman Assembly Com.
Dated Aug 15th, 1896.

Mahlon Pitney, of Morristown, has been re-nominated for Representative in Congress by the Republicans of the Fourth New Jersey district, composed of Sussex, Warren, Hunterdon and Morris counties.

The temperature on Mount Washington, last night, fell to 28°, and at midnight a snow storm was raging there, with the wind blowing a gale. Snow also fell in the Catskills at noon, yesterday.

The sentiment in favor of the renomination of Gov. Morton is steadily growing among Republicans. The New York Sun has, however, declared that the Governor ought to be renominated, and its support is likely to hoodoo his candidacy.

Mr. Bryan is at unnecessary pains to again deny the report that he was paid by the Bimetallic League to deliver free coinage speeches. It's a matter of very minor importance at most, and cannot possibly influence a single vote, but Mr. Bryan's explicit and detailed denial ought to end the story, at once and for all time.

The New York police had no difficulty in handling the crowd which gathered at the Madison Square Garden, last night, to hear Bourke Cockran's speech. To be sure the crowd was nothing like as great as at the Bryan meeting, last week, but the real difference was that, last night, the police had orders to let people into the Garden while, last week, their principal anxiety seemed to be to keep them out.

The anti-Platt leaders in Albany county have called district conventions to choose delegates to the State convention, who will contest the seats of the Platt delegates, on the ground that they were chosen by the help of "snap" primaries and a false enrollment. The plan of the anti-Plattites also includes the nomination of candidates for Congress, Assembly and County offices, in opposition to those of the regular organization. The outlook is, therefore, that there will be a great deal of Republican politics to the square inch in Albany county this fall.

A movement is now on foot to have the gold Democrats endorse McKinley at their convention at Indianapolis. Those who favor this course say that it is the only way in which the defeat of Bryan can be assured, but are at pains to say that Mark Hanna has not suggested or advised the endorsement of his man. This means that these so-called Democrats have got far enough away from Democracy to swallow McKinley and McKinleyism but are a little squeamish about McKinley's creator. It's the old story of the Bible over again,—straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel.

Special Meeting of the Board of Education.

At a special meeting of the Board of Education held, this morning, the resignation of Miss Mary B. Letever was accepted. Miss Nellie J. Creeden, of Wawayanda, was appointed in her place. Miss Creeden has had a long and successful experience as teacher of a school in the town of Goshen.

MISJUDGED.
From the Washington Star

"What you seem to want," said one of the two men who were arguing about politics, "is the earth."

"No," was the reply. "There's jes' where ye make yer mistake. I've got about eighty acres o' the earth now, an' what I wanter do is ter trade some of it off fer stock in a 'lectric railroad or Gov'ment bonds or an interest in a flyin' machine, or most anything ye could mention except earth."

A CAROL OF WOOD AND WATER.

The mercury's at ninety-five,
And moist with summer's fervent heat,
I think upon the shady nooks,
To which I fain would flee,
Where rushing down the rocky glen
The swift descending waters meet,
And turgid, tumbling Neversink
Goes sounding to the sea.

O, bliss supreme; upon its banks
To dream away the languid hours,
The crickets chirp, the rippling waves,
A sylvan symphony;
The shadows flitting in the sun,
The bees a-hum amid the flowers,
As gleaming, glancing Neversink
Flows swiftly to the sea.

By leafy shores its waters glide,
Where in the still and silent pools
The silvery trout, a beam of light,
Is darting furtively;
And skimming o'er its glassy bed
The kingfisher, his plumage cools,
Where green and golden Neversink
Glides gently to the sea.

From out the twilight of the trees,
And rushing through its rugged walls,
In giant might its waters roar
Rejoicing to be free
Breaks on the sultry summer air
The sound of many waterfalls,
As rude and roaring Neversink
Bursts wildly to the sea.

I'll toss aside the cares of life,
The weary worries and the noise,
And to our mother Nature hie
In careless rapture free.
I'll fill my soul with sylvan joys,
With pure delight that never cloys,
Where sportive, sparkling
Neversink sweeps swiftly to the sea.

The Recent Drowning Accident at Pleasant Lake.

On Saturday last, Mr. Whyte, of Brooklyn, father of Stanley Whyte, who was drowned at Pleasant Lake, a week before, was at the lake carefully examining the scene of the event and it is believed that he will begin proceedings to prosecute for manslaughter the young men who rocked the boat in which were Whyte and his companions.

Merit

Made and Merit Maintains the confidence of the people in Hood's Sarsaparilla. If a medicine cures you when sick; if it makes wonderful cures everywhere, then beyond all question that medicine possesses merit.

Made

That is just the truth about Hood's Sarsaparilla. We know it possesses merit because it cures, not once or twice or a hundred times, but in thousands and thousands of cases. We know it cures, absolutely, permanently, when all others fail to do any good whatever. We repeat

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure nausea, indigestion, biliousness. 25 cents.

Killed a Rattlesnake at Burnside.

From the Newburgh Register

Miss Georgia Crist, daughter of George H. Crist, of Burnside, killed a rattlesnake four feet long yesterday. His snakeship had three rattles and was killed by blows from an umbrella in the hands of Miss Crist. The young lady crushed the head of the serpent with the heel of her shoe. She will have the skin of the reptile made into a belt.

Deckertown Bonds Not in Demand.

Deckertown sold only $16,000 of the $40,000 of water bonds, for which it invited bids. One $1,000 bond brought four per cent. premium, and for the others par was bid. The bonds were payable, principal and interest, in gold.

THE ORANGE COUNTY CIRCUIT.

Opening Day of the Meeting at Goshen. Ambulator and Rival Easy Winners in the Pacing and Four-Year-Old Races. Suspicious Driving in the 2:32 Race. Bicycle Race—Mr. Harriman Wins the Roadster Prize.

The race meeting of the Orange County Driving Park Association, which began at Goshen, yesterday, was fairly well attended, notwithstanding the threatening weather. Rain fell at intervals during the afternoon, but not in sufficient quantities to make the track heavy, or to interrupt the sport.

The racing was hardly up to the standard of the races usually seen on this popular track. The 2:17 purse pacing and the 2:30 purse for four-year-olds were practical gifts to Ambulator and Rival, who won their respective events without the shadow of a struggle.

Ambulator was barred in the betting, and Charlie B. was played favorite for the place with odds on. Monte Cristo, of whom great things were expected before the circuit opened, was never a dangerous factor in the race.

There was no betting to speak of in the colt race, as the bookmakers asked the public to put up ten or twelve dollars to win one.

QUARTERSTAFF'S DRIVER WARNED.

The 2:32 class, trotting, was a very unsatisfactory race, and many ugly rumors were circulated about several of the drivers. From Quarterstaff's performance at Port Jervis it was thought the horse could win if he was driven for that purpose, but it was also said that his owner did not care to give him a fast mark at this meeting, as he had another event in view. This rumor finally reached the judges, and Yearance, the driver of Quarterstaff, was called to the stand after the first heat and was told that unless he made greater efforts to win another driver would be substituted. This warning was repeated later in the afternoon. Mr. Yearance was also fined $5 for pulling the horse while scoring, and thereby spoiling what would have been an excellent start.

THOUGHT HE DIDN'T DRIVE TO WIN.

The final heat was the cause of considerable discussion among the judges, and it was some time before they decided to give the heat and race to Quarterstaff. Although the horse finished first, they thought that Lady Carlisle had not been driven to win, and they were seriously inclined to call the heat "no heat" and start the horses again.

Before the first heat the betting stood, McLoughlin Maid $10, Quarterstaff $3 and $5, while the balance sold in the field for prices varying from $10 to $15. After Yearance had received his warning Quarterstaff was installed favorite.

A considerable amount of Goshen money went on W. H. Ludlum's Pierrot, a handsome three-year-old, who is said to have gone a half in 1:09, last week. The colt went well until the stretch in the first heat and then broke badly.

THE BICYCLE RACE.

The bicycle race had eight starters and was won easily by Clarence L. Hulse, of this city, in 2:30¼. E. B. Horton, of Craigville, was second; Owen E. Murphy, of Tuxedo, third. J. A. Van Sickle, of Unionville; Russell Cooley, of Tuxedo; W. J. Lorch, of Cornwall. C. E. Bowman, Jr., Newburgh, and J. H. Cummings, of Middletown, "also ran."

EXHIBITION OF ROADSTERS.

The exhibition of road horses was very interesting. The judges were County Clerk Taggart, Mr. Hendrickson, proprietor of the Belle Meade Stock Farm, and Mr. Cook, of Morristown, N. J. After much deliberation they awarded first prize to E. H. Harriman's black mare, Decorum.

The first prize was a silver cup valued at $50, presented by the Glen Lea Farm, of which Mr. Crawford, of the firm of Simpson, Crawford & Simpson, of New York, is proprietor.

Headache bad? Get Miles' Pain Pills.

A LIE PURE AND SIMPLE.

Originated in the Warwick Advertiser and Copied in the Middletown Press.

The Press, on Monday, copied from the Warwick Advertiser a statement which on the face of it was an untruth, in which W. F. O'Neill, of this city, was quoted as saying the reason he favored free coinage was because he "could make such a rippin' speech on it." The article also stated that Mr. O'Neill was anxious to go to Congress.

Every one who knows Mr. O'Neill knows he can make a good speech upon any subject, and also that he is not given to boasting of his oratorical ability, and those who read the squib in the Press regarded it as a campaign lie.

Questioned by an ARGUS reporter as to any possible grounds for such a statement, Mr. O'Neill said: "You can say for me that I never made any such expression as that attributed to me in the Advertiser and copied in the Press and furthermore that I am not a candidate for Congress as my legal business requires all my time and is much more remunerative than would be honest service in Congress. If I was a candidate, however, I never knew a better time to make the canvass than this year."

Now that Mr. O'Neill has emphatically denied the statement attributed to him it is but simple justice for the Advertiser and the Press to give his denial the same publicity they gave the untruthful statement they published. But, will they? Misrepresentation seems to be the policy of the Hannite press in this campaign.

THE TANDEM BICYCLE RACE.

Middletowners Not Allowed to Enter—Have Challenged the Winners.

Walter S. Weeks and Clarence L. Hulse were very anxious to enter the tandem bicycle race at Goshen, which, according to the advertisement, was to be an open event. Their entry was returned, however, and the race will be a match between Miller and Hock, of Goshen, and the Case Brothers, of Port Jervis.

The Middletown riders have challenged the winners for the championship of Orange county, the race to be decided at the meeting to be held in this city August 26th.

Burned Up Two $1,000 Bonds.

The National Bank of Newburgh has lost two Poughkhepsie city bonds of the denomination of $1,000 each. It is supposed the bonds were accidentally placed among some other papers, which were worthless and were afterwards burned.

The loss has been reported to the Poughkeepsie Board of Aldermen, but no action has been taken.

STREET-CAR COMEDY

How a Chivalric Man Got Even with an Impolite Woman.

Even the worm will turn, says a New York Herald reporter, who believes in preserving one's originality. The remark was drawn forth by something he had just seen in a Madison avenue car, into which entered a middle-aged and sickly-looking man. At a first glance the car seemed to be already full, but the anxious gaze of the newcomer detected the fact that a certain youngish lady was really occupying space enough for three passengers, or, as the reporter puts it, "had preempted a 15-cent reservation."

The pale gentleman stepped in front of her and waited, but she did no move. The reporter says that "her thoughts were full of Easter." At all events, she made no sign of surrendering any part of her "reservation."

Her next neighbor, however, was more considerate, or less deeply absorbed, and by means of a little crowding in the other direction, cleared space enough so that the man could sit down "on a pinch," to borrow once more the reporter's language.

Still the youngish lady with the inflated sleeves kept her place, and the gentleman wearied of his narrow quarters. Just then a woman who "had the breadth of the Liberty statue" boarded the car, market-basket in hand.

The gentleman might be in feeble health, but his heart was chivalric. He rose at once, and with gracious civility motioned the market woman into his place. She accepted the favor, and the gentleman retired to the platform. The other passengers looked alternately at him and at the young lady whose side he had just left.

That elegantly dressed person, if we are to accept the reporter's version of the affair, turned red, white and blue, besides biting her lips, looking daggers, and performing several other feats little less wonderful.

Then she signaled a stop, and as she left the car those who were standing on the platform "heard a hissing sound like the word 'brute.'"

VICTORIA'S NEW GOAT.

It Came from Ashantee, and Is Now Housed at Windsor Farm.

Her gracious majesty is hardly likely to possess any more interesting souvenir of the expedition to Ashantee than that recently presented to her by Maj. Donovan, of the Army Service corps. After the withdrawal of the troops Maj. Donovan, exploring and prospecting, found himself at Essyassi, a native town in the midst of a gold-bearing district. Hither Prempeh was wont to send slaves when his royal purse needed replenishing; and after the unhappy wretches returned to Coomassie and their monarch, laden with treasure, he cut their heads off, that the spot from which his gold was brought might not become generally known. The poor people received Maj. Donovan with open arms and showed their appreciation in the best presents of fruits and food at their command. Amongst these gifts was a well-grown young ram; but the cooking-pot saw him not, for his new owner made a pet of the animal, and became greatly attached to him. To England in the steamship Benin came this docile and friendly beast, and, the queen accepting him, "Prempeh," as he is called, now dwells at her majesty's Windsor farm.

THE QUEEN'S ASHANTEE GOAT.

Butter Comes Quickly.

The rapid manner in which certain modern churns convert cream into butter is one of the wonders of the dairying age. Butter can now be made while the breakfast table is being laid, five or six minutes being all the time needed to churn, while in a few more minutes the butter can be made up and brought to the table.

Honey in the Roof.

During some alterations to a house in London road, Dover, it was found that the whole interior of the sloping roof was covered with honeycomb and honey to the amount of several hundredweight. Much of it is black with age, but a great deal is good and is being removed in bucketfuls.

Extent of the World's Forest.

Forests cover about 10 per cent. of the earth's landed area, and 25 per cent of Europe. The highest yield is in the United Kingdom, namely: Sixty cubic feet of timber per acre, whereas in Brazil, for example, it is about one cubic foot.

BUDS, Society buds, young women just entering the doors of society or womanhood, require the wisest care. To be beautiful and charming they must have perfect health, with all it implies — a clear skin, rosy cheeks, bright eyes and good spirits. At this period the young woman is especially sensitive, and many nervous troubles, which continue through life, have their origin at this time. If there be pain, headache backache and nervous disturbances of the general health not good, the judicious use of medicine should be employed. Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best restorative tonic and nervine at this time. The best bodily condition results from its use. It's a remedy specially indicated for those delicate weaknesses and derangements that afflict womenkind at one period or another. You'll find that the woman who has faithfully used the "Prescription" is the picture of health, she looks well and she feels well.

In catarrhal inflammation, in chronic displacements common to women where there are symptoms of backache dizziness or fainting, bearing down sensations, disordered stomach, moodiness, fatigue, etc., the trouble is surely dispelled and the sufferer brought back to health and good spirits.

"WOMAN'S ILLS."

MRS BATES

MRS W. R BATES, of Dil on th Trumbull Co., Ohio, writes:

"A few years ago I took Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which has been a great benefit to me. I am in excellent health now. I hope that every woman, who is troubled with 'women's ills,' will try the Prescription' and be benefited as I have.

A Railroad Official's Experience.

MR. EDWARD EDMONDS, long connected with railroad construction in Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 19 years. Shortness of breath was the constant and most common symptom. Intense excruciating pain, generally followed any severe exertion. Faintness, hunger without any appetite; fluttering that made me clutch my breast, and palpitation that often staggered me as if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I arose from a stooping posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their prostrating unrest were numerous and I could get no rest day or night. I consulted leading physicians and tried advertised remedies. They gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described my case so exactly that I took Dr Miles' New Heart Cure and I am now a well man. I hope every one troubled with heart disease will try Dr. Miles' remedies. If they will write me personally, I will gladly give them full details of my experience." EDW. EDMONDS.

HIGH KITE FLYING IN BOSTON.

Success of Experiments on Blue Hill—Features of the Sport.

The details of the high flight of kites at Blue Hill observatory show the experiment to have been a success in other respects than the altitude to which it was possible to send the kites. This, it has been stated, was upwards of a mile and a quarter, the instrument reaching a height of 7,200 feet above the level of the country surrounding the hill. As the meteorograph is suspended quite a distance below the upper kites, they, of course, reached an altitude 200 or 300 feet greater. The kites were three in number, all of them on this occasion of the Eddy pattern, two of them being at the end of the line and the third some hundreds of feet below. The kites were of large size, two of them being six feet in their largest dimension, and the third one a monster of nine feet, presenting some 65 square feet of surface to the wind. This varied from 12 to 31 miles per hour at the surface, and the pull of the wire which held the kites mounted at times to upwards of 125 pounds, quite as much as Mr. Clayton and his assistants, Fergusson and Sweetland, care to handle.

The instrument which was sent up was a meteorograph of three elements, giving continuous readings of air pressure, temperature and humidity, and it was maintained at its greatest height for upwards of a half hour. The readings of the thermometer show a fall in temperature of about 18 degrees between the surface and the upper air. A short distance above the earth a cloud was encountered, through which the kites rose, coming out into clear weather above. In the midst of the cloud, as might be expected, the humidity rose to 100 per cent., this being the reading of the hygrometer, and above the cloud the air was quite dry, more so than at the surface. The record of the instrument, in its variations of humidity, affords a tolerably accurate measure of the thickness of the cloud, which from the estimate made seems to have been about 2,500 feet. The flight fairly taxed again the resources of the observatory, for to secure this great height it was necessary to put out 2½ miles of wire. Moderate kite-flying is a portion of the regular duties of the men at Blue Hill, for Mr. Rotch has recognized the value of this means of securing information about the weather conditions of the upper air, but these very high flights are a little out of the regular order. An attempt to eclipse the record will, however, be made later in the week, when Prof. Harrington and Mr. Archibald can be present, and again later in the season, when it is probable that Mr. Eddy will be once more with the kite-flyers on Blue Hill.—Boston Transcript.

NO POLES FOR TROLLEYS.

Chemnitz Houses Sustain the Guy Wires of the Lines.

Chemnitz, Saxony, two years ago banished horses from her street cars and substituted the trolley. In a report to the state department Consul J. C. Monaghan says one of the principal novelties of the adopted system is that no poles are used. The method of swinging wires is by means of ornamental rosettes fastened into the woodwork of walls of houses, having projecting hooks to which the wires are attached. These hooks are firmly fastened and are tested with seven times the weight they will be called upon to bear. Owners of houses, without exception, preferred to allow the use of their houses for rather than have poles on the sidewalk. The streets through which the cars wind their way are wider than Washington street, Boston, or Westminster street, Providence. The railway tracks, in conformity to the law, are level with the pavement, and accidents to vehicles of any kind are rare. The gauge is narrower than in America, but the cars keep the track and run as rapidly and as smoothly as in the United States. In the heart of the city they run 250 yards per minute, and in the suburbs 330 yards per minute.

The increase of traffic since the introduction of electricity in Chemnitz has been 60 per cent. The cars have no conductors. The motorman is the only person on board who represents the company. By doing away with conductors the company saves 14,000 marks annually. The fare is only 10 pfennigs or a trifle less than 2½ cents, on all routes, including transfers. Should 150,000 persons evade payment in 12 months the loss would be only 15,000 marks. It would take 450,000 evasions in fare to offset the company's savings by dispensing with conductors' salaries. Among a people who pay for food and drink in restaurants, saloons and gardens on their honor alone it is unlikely the company loses much. Culprits in this respect, when detected, are punished by having their names advertised in the newspapers as a warning to others. Fare boxes are attached to both ends of the car, so there is no such excuse as "difficulty in getting forward."—Scientific American.

Flower Girls in London.

So seriously has the city of London taken the custom of the buttonhole boquets worn by stock brokers that it has actually given the women who sell flowers recognition. The flower girls, as they are all gallantly called, are permitted by the regulations to set down their baskets and sell the flowers around the iron railings opposite the Royal exchange. They are among the most respected stall holders in the city. They are uniformly polite, as they may well be, since they may be said to be on speaking terms with all the youth and gallantry of Threadneedle street and Throgmorton avenue, and they are very skilled in the making of boutonnieres.—Chicago Chronicle.

Preferable.

"Go to," said the city man to the hard-fisted agriculturist, "you have hayseed in your hair!"

"I think that hayseed in my hair is preferable to wheels in my head, such as I perceive you harbor," was the rustic's reply.—Vogue.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS' FLAG.

"O towering Daughter, Titan of the West,
Behind a thousand leagues of foam secure;
Thou toward whom our inmost heart is pure
Of ill intent: although thou threatenest
With most unfilial hand thy mother's breast,
Not for one breathing-space may Earth endure
The thought of war's intolerable cure
For such vague pains as vex to-day thy rest!
But if thou hast more strength than thou canst spend
In tasks of Peace, and find'st her yoke too tame,
Help us to smite the cruel, to befriend
The succourless, and put the false to shame.
So shall the ages laud thee, and thy name
Be lovely among nations to the end."

Well, indeed, may it be for us to ponder the poet's suggestion whether we have any surplus energies to expend in foreign war. There are domestic problems before us which may well tax the highest wisdom and the sternest patriotism of our people. Within the last few weeks we have seen a desperate band of professional agitators and their deluded followers seize upon the organization and machinery of a great historic party, seeking to falsify its history, to stultify its objects and to masquerade under its name. If the spreading fires of popular folly and fanaticism should enable this combination of the reckless and restless, the dangerous and disorderly elements of society to obtain control not merely of a party but of the reins of government then, indeed, will the experiment of popular government, under the forms of a republic, be put to a final test before the eyes of the civilized world.

For this mad coalition of the destructive, disintegrating forces of society declares that it will be satisfied with nothing less than the overthrow of those fundamental principles upon which this government was established. This government rests upon Law; upon respect for and submission to Law, as administered and promulgated by Courts. Long before our Constitution was adopted it was said: "Of Law there can be no less acknowledged than that her seat is the bosom of God, her voice the harmony of the world: all things in heaven and on earth do her homage, the very least as feeling her care, and the greatest as not exempted from her power." It was in recognition of this divine truth that the framers of our Constitution provided for a Supreme Court, which has challenged the admiration and reverence of the entire world as the most august, the most impressive, the most majestic tribunal known to the judicature of mankind.

It is upon this court and the entire system which it represents that an attack is now made because its decisions have not conformed to the clamor and caprices of political charlatans. They denounce what they call government by injunction. I welcome the phrase and I say to you, Veterans of the war of '61, who fought to preserve the constitution of the states and to establish the sovereignty of Law under that constitution over this entire land: I say to you, in all solemnity, under a full sense of my responsibility as a citizen, believing that it involves not a party question but a fundamental principle, that "government by injunction," set in motion by the Federal authorities, enforced by the Federal courts and sustained by the strong arm of the general government, in order to suppress rebellion, violence and bloodshed and to preserve peace, order and commerce, constitutes the grandest exhibition, the most transcendent expression of the capacity, the adaptability of a written constitution to meet the needs, the demands, the conditions of modern life ever witnessed upon the broad stage of the world's civilization.

May the spirit of '61, when men forgot self, forgot party, forgot everything but their common country and its constitutional integrity—may that sublime spirit animate us anew in all the dangers which threaten the stability of the government you defended with your blood and the sacred principles by which alone it can endure. If it be true, as now proclaimed by southern leaders, that a new sectional issue is upon us; if it be true that the mad hate of the South, once overruled by the power and then overlooked by the magnanimity of the North, still slumbers unrepentant and revengeful, seeking to destroy by stealth what it could not destroy by force, then indeed, is it time for a united North to rouse herself from her lethargy and to rise to the solemn, the imperative, the transcendent duty of the hour,

You meet today, veterans of the 124th regiment, upon this, your 31st annual reunion under circumstances of great moment and anxiety. It is wise and well that you should here and now renew your pledges to each other and to your county. Your duties are not yet finished. The duty of the citizen supplements the duty of the soldier, the duty to preserve by wisdom what has been gained by valor. As you meet today impressed by these solemn considerations, it is peculiarly fitting and timely that the Daughters of Orange should again mark their confidence in your patriotism by presenting to you a new stand of colors, to take the place of those colors now resting in honorable archieves in your country's keeping. The colors, which under their commission, and in their behalf, I now present to you symbolize all that is most interesting and precious to you in your history as a regiment.

There you will find inscribed the names of those engagements in which you bore distinguished and honorable part. There you will find the name of Chancellorsville, where your gallant comrade Thomas W. Bradley performed that splendid act of conspicuous bravery which won for him a medal of honor by order of the president under act of Congress. There you will find the name of Spottsylvania, where your brave officer Lewis S. Wisner performed that daring and heroic action recorded upon the medal of honor conferred, also, upon him. There you will find the name of Gettysburg, where your deed of valor shed upon your name undying renown, the memory of which is saddened by the thought of all the precious lives you that day lost, and especially by the death of that matchless soldier, that superb officer, that sterling patriot, your beloved commander, Colonel A. Van Horne Ellis.

Take, then, this banner, whose waving folds will remind your countrymen of your glorious history and your heroic deeds. It is not, as were your old colors, destined to be stained by the smoke or pierced by the stroke of battle, but simply to be fretted by the tooth of time as it is passed from hand to hand to be bequeathed by your last survivor to a grateful country. Your thinning ranks remind us each year how near at hand is your last reunion upon earth. O, spirit of the illustrious dead; spirit of Ellis, best, choicest sacrifice upon the altar of patriotism, if still thy immortal part broods and hovers over all thy heroes as tenderly as once it did, so let it follow now these, their few survivors, who linger, late and scattered, upon this mortal scene. Abide with these, thy children, who still look up to thee, as in life, to lead and direct them. Thou hast passed through the great shadow so soon to envelop them. Attend them, as through the gathering shadows, they pass on to join their Captain and their comrades in the re-united host where the roll-call will soon mark not one hero absent and their muster will once more be complete. Bend down upon them thy gracious benediction. Bear them up with thy sustaining sympathy. And when, as deep calleth unto deep, thy prescient vision shall note the final summons, O, let thy spirit accompany and receive them into the Garand Army of the Republic of the Faithful, into the Loyal Legion of the everlasting Kingdom of the Blessed.

During the presentation speech ten young ladies, representing the Daughters of Orange, acted as a guard of honor to the flag.

Capt. Thos. Taft, of Cornwall, president of the regimental association, accepted the flag in behalf of the Orange Blossoms, and introduced Col. Charles H. Weygant, the regiment's last commander, who made the formal address of acceptance.

PUBLIC VOICE.

The Wretched Condition of the City's Streets—Street Superintendent Reed Not at Fault—Something Wrong With the System.

EDITOR ARGUS:—It is very seldom that we see a word or even a hint in our city papers about the deplorable condition of our city streets and this fact has been commented on by numbers of our citizens, but in your issue of last evening, I noticed a short article on the complaints of bicyclists in which you say they blame Street Commissioner Reed.

I am of the opinion that Mr. Reed is not the one responsible for the manner in which the streets are worked. In fact when, in April last, I called Mr. Reed's attention to Cottage street, north of Wisner avenue, and stated to him that unless the gutters were opened it would soon cost the city a large sum of money to repair it, he replied that he could do nothing; that he was working under the direction of the Street Committee and advised me to see them. At the time I called Mr. Reed's attention to this street $10 would have put it in order. At the present time it would cost $100. Is this economy?

There is something wrong about the repair work on our streets; will some one rise to explain?

In conversation, last evening, with a bicycle rider, he said that if he wanted to ride he always went out of the city to find good roads, and that he knew of but one road in Orange county that was worse than our city streets. If the city of Middletown has more miles of streets than can be kept in order why not draw in the corporation limits and let those who live in the suburbs work the roads themselves?

North street, the main entrance to our city for those coming from Bloomingburgh, Fair Oaks, Pine Bush, Bullville, Circleville and all the surrounding country north of the city, is a posive disgrace. The street at best is narrow, and since the trolley rails have been laid in the centre of the street there is scarcely room for a wagon on either side, and the roadways there are full of mud holes and stones.

Business men, such streets hurt your business; pleasure drivers, such streets ruin your horses and wagons; bicyclists, such streets make life miserable for you. How long can we all stand this?

Presidential Ambitions of the "Bard of Shanty Hill."

From the Honesdale Independent.

Mrs. Sarah Ulrich Kelley, poet laureate, is a candidate for the presidency on a bimetallic platform. She says she has the pledges of all the editors in the Lackawanna Valley to support her in the great contest. She has not decided yet whether to take Whitney, of Susquehanna, as a running mate, or Senator Peffer, of Kansas.

The A. O. H's Very Successful Picnic.

As a result of the very large attendance at the picnic given by Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, at Mænnerchor Park, last night, a neat sum will be added to the treasury of the organization. The picnic was, moreover, a pronounced social success. The weather was cool, and dancing was indulged in in comfort until three o'clock this morning. The Traction company ran extra cars until the picnic was over.

BAKER'S ICE WATER,

Cereals Mixed Therein.

Not all the harm said to come from iced tea is caused by the cold. Many persons who suffer from stomach and nervous disorders, find great relief by abandoning tea and coffee entirely. It is a common practice of the bakers who work all day over hot stoves at the Postum Cereal factory at Battle Creek, Mich., to stir cereals into the jars of ice water. Experience proves that very cold water can be used quite freely in this way without the ill effects likely to follow the free use of plain ice water. This should teach a lesson. If one must have iced drinks at meals during the hot weather, take all the advantage possible and use Postum Cereal, the grain coffee, iced with sugar and a few drops of lemon juice. This gives a delicious cooling drink which is food in a liquid state and very nourishing and strengthening. Postum will agree with weak stomachs that suffer from tea or coffee, and is a great builder, taken either hot or iced; try it.

There is but one genuine original Postum Cereal coffee, with a multitude of imitations offered as "just as good."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free.

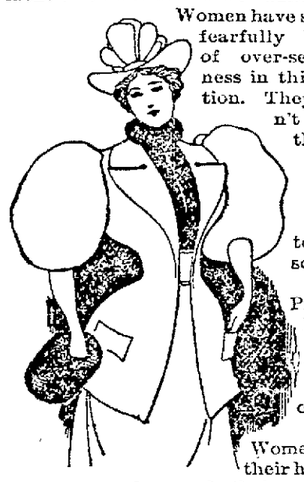
Modesty in women is natural. It is one of women's chief charms.

No one cares for one who really lacks this essential to womanliness.



Women have suffered fearfully because of over-sensitiveness in this direction. They couldn't say to the physician what they ought to say to someone. Mrs. Pinkham has received the confidence of thousands. Women open their hearts to her. She understands their suffering, and has the power to relieve and cure.

In nearly all cases the source of women's suffering is in the womb. In many cases the male physician does not understand the case and treats the patient for consumption—indigestion—anything but the right thing.

It is under such circumstances that thousands of women have turned to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and opened their heart and lives—woman to woman—and received her help.

You ask how she can tell if the doctor cannot? Because no man living ever treated so many cases and possesses such vast experience.

Displacement, inflammation, torpid action, stagnation, sends to all parts of the body the pains that crush you.

Lydia E. Pinkham's "Vegetable Compound" is the sure cure for this trouble. For twenty years it has done its grand work and cured thousands
